Canoe alone

Why can't all days be like this one?
 It was warm and it was sunny
 And my body worked for its duration,
 Kept away the old man in me.

I canoed my way upriver with my
 Dog there stood on the prow
 While this older man felt like a young
 Man which doesn't come about
 So often now.

They say there are seven shades
 Of green in the treeline
 But that's kind of river boat men's
 Chat
 Yet the trees looked lovely this Morning; there is no doubt of that.

I landed on a point that I have known
 Since my boyhood
 And just sat looking about me
 For a half hour in the day
 While the dog wandered around
 Until, that is, it was time to get Underway.

Some folk are born unlucky.
 Some need more than me
 But I only need what I have got.
 Oh how lucky then must I be...
